FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CITY OF SAN CLEMENTE REOPENS ITS BEACHES

May 2, 2017....San Clemente, California...The City of San Clemente has reopened its beaches. The City's Marine Safety Division communicated with other public safety agencies, received reports from lifeguards who patrolled the beaches, and reviewed drone footage– none of which reported any shark sightings. Therefore, the City elected to reopen its beaches at 12:30 p.m. today.

The City will post advisory signs of recent shark sightings. This fits within policy guidelines as applied to both the shark attack and the shark sightings reported by the Orange County Fire Authority last night.

The City has been informed that the State beaches are still closed, although they are not enforcing the closure.
